To Correspondents

We are in receipt of at least swenty lettereds reference to the Ottawa arrests, most of which were written for publication. But we do not see that beyond chronneling the exploits of the Deputy Marshal, they contain anything new. Will our correspondents allow us to say that we shall be obliged in the course of the trial, etc., to depuis a great deal of space to this affair, and that we cannot afford to weary the patience of our readers at this time with what is trivial or immaterial.

Commerce of St. Lewis for 1859.
The Macouri Republican, Missouri Democrat, and St. Louis Svening News come to us with reviews of the trade and commerce of St. Louis

In the following tables we present the re-ceipts of four and grain at St. Lonis for two years, compared with the receipts during the past year at Chicago: Receipts at St. Louis, Chicago.

| Figure | Policy | P From the above table it will be seen that Chi-cage still leads St. Louis about 60 per cent. in its receipts of Flour and Grain), and in the provision trade our city is also taking the same position. Below we give the number of Hogs packed in St. Louis and Chicago, for the pust four sensous:

At the commencement of the present season the St. Lonis papers estimated the packing at 200,000 hogs; but up to the 1st of January the number resched was only 70,000 head, while Chicago had packed up to the sameltime 115,000. The Missouri Republican says of the popula-tion of St. Louis:—"Our population must be at least 190,000, and is rapidly increasing."

Commerce of Detroit for 1859.

The Detroit Advertiser contains a full and highly creditable review of the trade of the past year, from which we glean the following: Piour, bels (200 1 1888, 1857)

Iron Manufacture in the Northwest. Manufactures are yet new in the Northwest; yet their era is even now dawning with much promise. With exhaustless resources in raw material, and ready secess to all the markets of the country, there is every inducement for capi-talists to inaugurate here beyond the Lakes the manufacture of Iron and Fabrics, in every remanufacture of from and racines, in every respect to compete with other points of production. We recently referred to the inducements to cotton manufacture in Chicago, now that by our railroad connections, thousands of hales of raw cotton are being transported by our very doors to New England mills.

The iron of Lake Superior, from its excellnoe, has attracted the attention of ironmasters coce, has attracted the attention of ironmasters and iron consumers of the whole country. It is destined to give rise to many mammoth from establishments at points suggested by ease of access and a market. From the past actual success of one of these, however the future may be best known. Capt. E. B. Ward has largely embarked in the manufacture of pron, especially in the direction of newfolling rathroad bars. His great establishments in this city and at Wyandotte, near Detroit, are but the proneers of others to follow in this and kindred directions. The results achieved by the latter are ions. The results achieved by the latter are most noteworthy, and are of interest to all who are watching the progress of this section of the country in manufactures.

They have been in active operation three years; during this period they have rolled and delivered twenty one thousand tons of rails, delivered twenty-one thousand tons of rails, and five thousand tons of merchant iron; have and five thousand tons of merchant iron; have used twenty-three thousand tons of old rails, fifty-one hundred tons of lake Superior charcoal pig, and four thousand tons of ed scrapiros. They have been the means of retaining and circulating $1,170,000 of money in the State of Mishigam, that would have gone East if the Wyandott Works had not been in operation. There has been an average of four hundred mea sugaged in the various departments of supplying and working the Mills, giving support to about $,000 persons, mea, women and shildren. All of these persons are consumers of the agricultural products of the West.

Additions are about to be made to these works by which the efficiency will be increased about one third, they will be embled to furnish in addition to what they now manufacture.

in addition to what they now manufacture, locomotive tire, spikes, axles, boiler plate, nails in addition to what they now manufacture in addition to what they now manufacture is cometive trie, splice, axles, boiler plate, and an addition for realized iron bridges.

The presents from the semille have oblighed premium from all the fairs and sceigins where they have been exhibited. The last and most unexpected compliment for them was a Silver Medal from the Mechanics Institute in Ballimore, Maryland, where they had to compete with all the large iron establishments of that and other Blates.

The Chicage Reil Mill has now been built two years, but has been in operation only about six months since its construction. It must some come to pass that our mitroefs will cause to send their old rails to Eastern Mills at an expense to the roads of at least 38 per ton for the send of a least 38 per ton for the send of a least 38 per ton for the send of a least 38 per ton for the send of a least 38 per ton for the send of a least 38 per ton for the send of the send of a least 38 per ton for the send of the

The manufacturing laws of Illinois discr nating in four of manufacturing interest followed up and promoted by a jiberal course the City Government, must in time invite h amounts of capital to the city. As we is stated in a previous article, cotton manufactor san even new he built and sustained here; there is no doubt if a good business man with sufficient capital sound start the undertakin he would meet with complete success. The factories should be built outside of our corpor-tion, and should be subject to no fax, a scept it State, until they became strong and profitab-investments.

No act of charity would be more acceptable to the poor wwen and children in this city than a demand at fair wages for their unemployed time. Could that date of persons hear the glad tidings that their labor was wanted at a rair remomeration, thousands of now and hearts and serrowful faces would brighten with joy, and our mills would be filled with fite and happiness by those whome are now the rappiness by those whose homes are now the abode of poverty, grief, and often crime.

The interests of the city and State, of our and holders and merchanic, of the philanthro pist and Christian, demand the construction operation of mills in which our cotton and w len goods and the rich ores of our Northwe may be manufactured. Society.

Boyden, late a Senator of Mass., and now of this city, of the Charter and Laws of the Province of Massachusetts Bay, from 1098 to 1766, bound, folic. and, folio.

The Secretary, by permission, then submitted a historical and scientific paper, prepared a the Society's request some months since, or "Interment in Populous Cities," by Prof. J. H. The historical part was roat as regula-hibited the various modes of disposing of the dead, as practised in antiquity, especially by the Hebrews, Egyptians, Greeks and Romans showing the regard observed for the public of populous habitation.

The paper proceeded to trace the introduction of inhumation in charches and churchyards after the introduction of Christianity, and the continuation and spread of similar usages such practices attracted attention, particulin France and Germany, where interment in the inhabited limits of large cities a Paris and Vienna-were checked, wholly prohibited. The example of these Sta United States, the first movements in this cour

The historical sketch was followed by an ex-ended discussion of the scientific and sanitary principles, with pumerous illustrative fac-connected with the practice of inhumation populous cities and towns; showing the exte and deleterious influence of the gams swolved, from decomposing bodies, the effects of their inhalation into the delicate tissues of the lungs, or absorption by the surface of the bodies of the lungs; the teaderoles of accumulating remains of the dead, in a state of decomposition, to corrupt the springs, wells and other sources of water, to communicate infection, and breed distempers. This portion of the paper, owing to its length, was not read; said an epitome of accontents was given, with a few extracts from the reports of annitary commissions of Norfolk, Ya, and New Orleans, connected with the dissertous appearance of yellow fever in those cities, a few years since.

The closing passages of the paper were read, which treated of the conditions to be observed in the location of rural or suburban cemeteries, the depth of graves, qualities of soil, &c, dear-able.

The thanks of the society having been voted rious influence of the guess evolved in the location of rural or subtrban cemeteries, the depth of graves, qualities of soil, &c., desirable.

The thanks of the society having been voted to Dr. Rauch, for his learned and intereating paper, a discussion was had at some length, in which Drs. Johnson and Andrews expressed their concurrence in the general views presented in the paper.

Mr. Bress explained the action of the City Council of Chicago in regard to the public provision for interments, and referred to the information obtained by a committee of that body, on which he acted, in relation to the present cemetery, and the grounds of the Council's online, that mortuary establishments could be better and more astisfactorily managed by private torporations, properly organized and enowered than by the musuicipal suitorities. Judge Matierre presented some extended and forciblemarks on the history of the present cemetery grounds, and the proposed plans for their suitable, fare and embelly hamen; and the desire obsertained by many of our older citizens, to matric to far its occupation, hereafter, as to unard against any possible injury to the public health, at the same time to render if an ornamental and appropriate depositary for the sacred dead.

The discussion, which was of a friendly character, areas upon a proposition to print the planer, in a revised and condensed form, for the unformation of which was postponed to the next meeting of the Society.

Spott decision as the fired and linch separate law of the land, he has given up all rightful claim to be ranked as a popular accreticity, man. Yet this is precisely what the Douglas awore allegiance. There is no man of dece who does not know, and will not admit, that with the opinions especiased in the case of Drad. Scott will be unhesitatingly given; and to must, stalligent or foolish houses or dishapses, will roke to grant that whose such a decision is rendered, the popular sovereignty dogma is actitized to the winds.

We find the Himola Douglas mee, then, in this position, and victually a sing this language. "We are devoted adherents of the dectrine of popular sovereignty as we have presched it. "Xe go for gaving the people of a fearing the right to archide slavery therefrom by the the right to exclude slavery therefrom by the action of the local legislature. We know that the two things are inc. "that the two things are incompatible, and that "the one thing being without the support of what will pass for law, will be kicked aside: but we are for both. We are also for the Supreme Court and all it may do. We will not resist even by the legal and constitution.

"for Lecompton and the Supreme Court. We "have no political creed, no opinions, no pro-gramme of action that we will not submit unitatingly to that Bench. That Court is the "Douglas!"

We submit that this is a perfectly fair and proper interpretation of the Platform of the Douglas Convention; that it is a practical shandoment of the "stump speech in the beilty of the bill;" and that it is in advance a distardly hid for the aggressions of that most dangerous of all tribusals—that irresponits be body—the Supremis Court. has just adjourned. It has been the most sober and thoughtful, this least bolaterous and confi-dent of all the Democratic State Conventions held in a half, dozen years, during which I happened to observe the moving of those waters. It is in affifting contrast with the Con-vention of 1856, when Coll Richardson was T. L. Dickey, of Lauslie. B. T. Skarnick, of Occidence of Maries.

Freey office in Springfield was filled by a man who had received his certificate from a pro-slavery cancer. Then, the squatten sovereigns langhed opposition to accra and spuraed Republicanism with their boot heels. They looked upon the occupancy of an office by any person who had not previously run the gauntiet of a Democratic Convention, very much in the light of highway robbery. Judge Trumbull's election to the Senate was held to be the flattest description of Surplicy, at catera, at celera.

ces beld fast evening in the Court House, and the various skirminhes which have taken place between different delegations at the hotels and saloons of the city. It begen to be noticed at an early hour yesterday that there was a decided disagreement as to the platform—one perty insisting on giving the President a blow between the eyes, and the other demanding with equal firmness that nothing about be said or done. Hely to give offence in that quarter. The blate Espicies of Tuesday morning contained are article unmistakably favoring the former policy, but the Egyptians would listen to nothing of the sort. They were Democrats; they were going to rote for the Charleston apmines, whoever he was, and on whatever platform he was placed. They believed there had been nonanconquerably perceful about these times, and they were not going to tolerate any more fighting inside the Democratic party. In this matter the Egyptians found a cordial ally in Sheahan of the Chicago Times, and between them they smothered the more plucky wing of the party outright. It was agreed at the Tuesday

The Convention was called to order shortly before ten o'clock, by Cot. C. A. Warren, of Adams, who nominated Murray McConnell, of Morgan, for temporary Chairman. Three or four temporary Secretaries were also elected.

After extricating the Convention from a considerable spart into which it had fallen, no one siderate same; the water it has laire, no one how how, the Chairman appointed a Commit-tee of two from each Congressional District, to report the names of permanent officers of the Convention. The Committee retired, and the members began to call for "Marshall," "Liner." " Morrison," and others.

There seemed but very little disposition to dissent from this platform, but Mr. Ficklin urged in a loud tone and vehement gestures,

Mr. J. L. D. Morrison (commonly called Don) essayed a speech while the committee on resolutions were out. He confined himself to a the following verbaim report of one of his phrases: "In pursuance of this scheme (the "alleged funding of the McAllister and Steb-bins bonds) Wm. H. the Democratic text book of the nation, is now one of the most active and influential teaders of the Republicans. His zon, F. P. Blair, Jr., of St. Louis, is an able and fearless champion of the present views of his father. Jackson's naphew, A. J. Donelson, was an Opposition candidate for the Vice-Presidency in 1856. The sturdy old Senatorial champion of Jackson, the venerable Benton, died deploring the policy of the present Administration, and distrusted and denounced by those who assume the leadership of the Democratic party. The favorite of Jackson, Van Buren, was the leader of the great defection of 1885. States and districts which delighted to do him honor would now be found the most determined antagonists of the Democratic party. In Maice, New Hampshire, New York, and Pennsylvania, he would find the once well-established Democratic accerdancy destroyed. The rural districts, which in many a bitter contest unflinchingly adhered to the Democratic cause, are now, most of them, earnest in their opposition to it.

The vacuum in the old Democratic party, which has bereft it of its former power has been to some extent filled, it is true, but by men whom Jackson would be startled to see occupying the position of Democratic leaders. What would he think, for instance, of changes which had made his life-long enemy. Wim. B. Reed, and Robert Tyler, a son and political aposits of his bitter antagonist, John Tyler, Democratic leaders in Pennsylvania; or Wise and Hanner, both his political fores, the controlling spirits in Virginia; or the transfer of many Sofithers politicals on the political forest the committee of which he had long been a distinguished chairman; and in the Presidential chaffer beword the startled to fasten his tyrannical policy as a militation on the necks of the Democracy of the country.

To recapituiffs the changes he would behold would require far more space than the confined limits of a newspaper article. A more reference to the subject will recall many remarkable ones to the minds of every politic

It is worthy of remark also, that the Supreme Court, whose decision in regard to the Eank of the United States was constantly but vainly held as a terror over the head of the old hero, to restrain him from discharging what he believed to be his duty, is now landed as a secred oracle of pointical wisdom, before whose alleged incidental expressions of opinion all discussion must cossie, and all conflicting sentiments be summarily surresudered. Mee must not wait for its authoritative decisions to adjust subjects which are legitimately brought before it with the seconding to the new ruling, a whispea to the tribunal whose right to oputral the pointiest action of the nation Jackson emphatically derised, must become as binding as an Omnipotent decress.

[From the Mo. Democratic Party.

The great and sole commandment of the party is, "Thou shall have no gods but slavery,"

The utmost latitude, the most marked contrariesty of opinion is tolerated on all questions but this. Whigs and Americans become excellent members of the organization, the moment they give in their adhesion to the slavery extension policy. The cherished and trusted leaders of that organization are men who are signalized for nothing so much as for treasonable professions. New tests in relation to slavery are presented every year, like break neck feaces in a steeple chase, and Northern men have presented to them the pleasant alternative of killing themselves off by rushing through thick and thin, through break, bush and scaur, or of pausing the find themselves in a moment on the wrong side of the fence, while the wild route with carses and ontunely for the laggards passes onward. How can a party which is devoted, with all its soul and all its strength to an institution which is confined to fifteen States of the thirty three States, be other than sectional. Suitosal parties must be the result of conflicting policies, each of which has a domissite interest for the citizens of every State. We admit that when the ruling class in these fifteen States resistance to the that in the prosecution of that parties are sixtuation on the lands which are the common property of the citizens of the United States, resistance to that in the prosecution of that parties a national duty, for neither on the lands which are the common property of the citisens of the United States, resistance to that in the prosecution of that particular design certainly becomes a national duty, for neither law nor equity can demand the sacrifice of the rights which sphertain to the vast non-slaveholding majority North and South, to the ambilition of a propristary few in numbers, but possessed of more powers individually and collectively than any aristocracy which has existed in the modern world. Whether our government as constituted shall, he revolutionized, and an aristocrafical republic be established on the ruins of the Democratic Republic is among the questions which will be decided by the issue of the next Fresidential election.

Condition of the Illinois Blanks.

Our readers will remember the mendacious charge which lately originated with the Chicago Tions, to the effect that the securities of the Illinois Banks, which count ought to be on deposit for safe keeping with the State Treasurer, were not there, but had been "loaned out" to parties in this State and in St. Louis. We characterized the statement as the time as so utter a faisebiod iteserved to be, but the Treasurer besides this and to reassure Illinois bill holders, and the public generally, from the consequences which such charges were calculated to produce, addressed a note to the Bank Commissioners, equesting them, as required by law, to personally examine the condition of the beak securities deposited in his office and report accordingly. This duty and others connected with their office, the commissioners, consisting of Mosars. Herndon, Quick and Henry, have been engaged in for the last two weeks. Their examinations have been most therough, embracing, first an overhauling of the Bank books in the Auditors office, and then, getting a certificate from this department, of what was shown to be the amount of the Bank securities comparing it by actual count with the bonds on deposit in the Treasurer's office. The count shows that the time as a continuous contents of the treasurer were of the treasurer's office. The count shows that the treasurer's office. The count shows that the treasurer's office. The count shows that the time as a continuous content and the treasurer to the treasurer's office. The count shows that the time as not the treasurer's office. The count shows that the condition of the treasurer's office. The count shows that the condition of the treasurer's office. The count shows that the condition of Treasurer's office. The count shows that the bonds and the cupons thereto belonging are all safe and secure in the iron vault of the Treasurer. The commissioners are preparing a full statement for the public, which will give a fixed and eposis, their present cash value, amount of capital, circulation, etc., etc. It will speedly appear. Mesiuwhile we are informed generally, that the present condition of the Stock Banks of this State is good, all of them now having a margin of 8.to 10 per cent, for their circulation, eccording to the quotation of stocks in the New York market.

We are gratified to make this statement to the public, and to reassure them from falseboods circulated by the Mattesonian Canal Scrip organs. While we are hy no means in love without present banking system, and are not without apprehensions that, unless Illinois bonds are by law made the basis of the securities, utilimate insaster may ensue, yet we are opposed to the studied attempts in certain oursters to create

We are happy in being able to say, that in the turee large commercial cities of the West, Cincinnait, St. Lonia and Chiagao, there have been few or no mercantile failures of importance within the last year. These letters all speak positively of their richness, and with entire confidence that they are extensive. We have also seen considerable gold from these mines, in the hands of persons of the highest respectability, who affirm that it was taken from the S-mil-kimeen. These mines are about one hundred mises from Fort

Onyuany.—We are pained to amounce this morning the death of two of our oldest and most highly esteemed citizens, Mr. Caleb Birchall and Mr. Geo. W. Lowry. Both were victims of consumption, and died yesterday morning within a few minutes of each other.

Mr. Birchall was a native, we believe, of Pennyivania. He came to this city as early as 1838, and by his amiable disposition, blameless life and strict probity in his business dealings, called around him a large circle of friends, who will cherish his memory with affection. The Indian fairly danced for joy, and gave us to understand that, as he could not alseep for pain, he would watch over us. You may suppose we slept much less than we talked. The two strangers gave me an account of their once having been in a somewhat similar situation. Day came, fair rosy, and with it the punishment of our captives.

They were now quite sobered. Their feet were unbound, but their arms were still securely tied. We marched them into the woods off the road, and having used them as Regulators were wont to use such delinquents, we set fire to the cabin, gave all the skines and implements to the young Indian warrier, and proceeded, well pleased, towards the settlements. Six figures stood in the hall spouting water and wetting people in various wars. At it currance of a gallery were eight water jet rushing upwards which wetted the people passing, and three small pipes were so fixe close by as to cover them with flour. If the panie-stricken victims rashed up to the will dow and opened it, up came a figure wettin them and closing the frame. If a splend missel on a deak caught a curious eye, the people was who went to it was either covered wit soot or dirt. A mirror close at hand betraye the trick; but while the victim wondered a the binchness of his face, out rushed a flour dredget that made him while. The most elatorate of these tricks was one combining almost overly spicies of deception. A figure of a mas was made to start in the great gallery, fright oring people by talking or crying. At the noise, the fourners in other rooms rushed in upon which, a number of figures, armed with sticks, came forth, driving every one pell-mel to the bridge, when they fell, of course, interthe water.—The Earth Flomas Praisers.

The removal of the ruins in old the Pani's in London, formed an instructive chapter in architecture. We learn from the "Life of Wren," that the walls, eighty feet perpendicular, and five feet thick, and the tower, at least two hundred feet high, though cracked, and awayed and tottering, stuck obstinately together, and their removal, stone by stone, was found tedious and dangerous. At first, men with picks and levers looched the stones above, and then canted them over, and pled them into heaps. The want of room (for between the walls of the church and those of the houses, there lay a street only some thirty yards wide), made this way slow and unsale. Several men lost their lives, and the piles of stone grew atcep and large. Thus, however, Sir Christopher Wren proceeded, gaining every day more room, till he came to the middle tower that bore the steeple. The remains of the tower being nearly two hundred feet high, the laborers were afraid to work above; thereupon he concluded to facilitate this work by the use of guppowder. He dug a hole down by the northwest pillar of the tower, the four nilars of which were acceptance. of arrows and two or time raccom same lay at his feet. He moved not—he apparently breathed not.—Accomptomed to the habits of the Indians, and knowing that they pay little attention to the apparench of civilized strangers, (a circumstance which, in some countries, is considered as evincing the apathy of their character,) I addressed him in French a language not unfrequently partially known to the people in that suggester had been content to one of his even with his fine-TO THE FUBLIC.—Ever since my "Agonama Semman he was in the act of discharging an arrow a raccoon in the top of a tree, the arrow had it upon the chord, and sprung back with the valence into his right eye as to destroy it forever.

Feeling hungry, I inquired what sort of fare I could expect. Such a thing as a bed was not to be seen, but many large untanned bear and buffalo hides lay piled in a corner. I strew my time piece from my breast, and told the woman that it was last, and the result of the large with electric quickness. She told me that there was pienty of venison and jerked buffalo meat, and that on removing the sahes I should find a cake. But my watch had struck her fanny, and her curiosity had to be gratified by an immediate sight of it. I took off the gold chain that secured it around my neek and presented it to her. She was all costsay, spoke of its beauty, asked me its value, and put the chain around her brawny neck, saying how happy the possession of such a watch would make her. Thoughtiest, and, as I fancied, myself m so quiet a spot, secure, I paid little attention to her falk or movements. I halped my dog to a good supper of venison, and was not long in satisfying the demands of my own appetite. The Indian rose from his seat, as if in extreme suffering. He passed and repassed me several times, and once pinched me on the side ev violently that the pain nearly brought forth an exclamation of secons. I belocked this. His care not wine? Feeling hungry, I inquired what sort of fare feet high, the laborers were afraid to work above; thereupon he concluded to facilitate this work by the use of gunpowder. He dug a hole down by the northwest pillar of the tower, the four pillars of which were each about fourteen feet diameter. When he had dug to the foundation, he then, with crows and tools brought on purpose, wrought a hole two feet square, hard into the seen re of the pillar. There he placed a little tin box, containing eighteen pounds of powder, and no more. A came was fixed to the box with a quick match, as gunners call it, within the case, which reached from the box to the ground above; and along the ground was laid the train of pewder with a match. After, the mine was carefully closed up again with stone and mortar to the top of the ground. He then observed the effect of the blow. This little quantity of powder of the blow with a match and the context of the tower, with two great arches which rested upon it, but also two adjoining arches of the aistes and all above them. And this it seemed to do somewhat leisurely, cracking the walls to the top, lifting visibly the whole weight above nine inches, which suddenly jumping down, made a heap of ruins in the place without scattering. It was half a minute before the heap opened in two or three places, and emitted some smoke. By this description may be observed the incredible force of powder, eighteen pounds of which lifted up three thousand tons, and saved he work of a thousand laborers. The fall of so great a weightfrom a height of two hundred feet, gave a concussion to the ground that the inhabitants around took for an earthquake. During Wren's absence, his superintendent made a larger hole, put in a greater charge of gunpowider, and neglecting to fortify the mouth of the mine, applied the match. The explosion accomplished the object; but one stone was displaced with such violence, that it flew to the opposite side of the churchyard, amashed in a window where some women were sitting, and alarmed the whole neighborhood so much, that they unit

Never, until that moment, had my senses been awakened to the danger which I now suspected to be about me. I returned giance for glance to my companion, and rested well assured that, whatever enemies I might have, he was not of their number.

I asked the woman for my watch, wound it up, and under pretence of wishing to see how the weather might probably be on the morrow, took up my gun and walked out of the cabin. I slipped a ball into each barrel, scraped the edges of my flints, renewed the primings, and returning to the hut gave a favorable account of my observations. I took a few bear skins, made a pallet of them, and calling my faithful dor to my side, lay down, with my gun close to my body, and in a few minutes was, to all appearance, fast asleep.

I saw ber pour the water on the turning machine, and watched her working away with the dangerous instrument, until the cold sweat covered every part of my body, in spite of my determination to defend my-self to the last. Her task finished, she walked to her reeling sons, and said, "There, that'll settle him: Boys, kill you——, and then for the watch."

I turned, turned my gun-locks silently, touched up my faithful companion, and lay ready to start up and shoot the first who might attempt my life. The moment was that approaching, and that night might have been my last in this world, had not Providence made preparation for my rescue. All was ready.

I said in the population that any man who takes the ground that the Constitution per se establishes slavery in the Territories, could not carry a single township in my State. There is not a word in that aynopsis which shows that I named the Dred Scott decision. I only alluded to the President's opinion. He (Paris) then referred to the Congressional canvais of Indian, saying that he appealed from a packed convention to the majority of the people, and was triumphastly austained. [Here there were repeated cries from the Republican side of "Let the extract be read.]
